A LESSON FROM BEAUMONT.

Frank Putnam says Beaumont is "the gamest city in Texas," predicating this compliment on the voting of deep-water bonds. Mr. Putnam, however, qualifies the compliment by expressing the opinion that the city showed bad judgment in waiting a year before beginning work, hoping to secure federal aid, only to be stood off at last.

There is a lesson in this for Bryan. Our problem is to secure a better water supply and a sewerage system. A bond issue for this purpose was voted by an overwhelming majority eighteen months ago, yet nothing has been done. That the city is suffering—is, in fact, in a deplorable condition for lack of this improvement, is not questioned, yet not a flick has been struck.

How long is this state of things to continue? God knows. There is no hope of a beginning as long as the "rule or ruin" spirit which seems to animate both factions is permitted to dominate. Faction is the evil genius of Bryan. God give us all grace to pray fervently that it may be utterly cast out. True, we are making some progress in spite of it, but not anything to be compared with what would be accomplished if our people were united. There is scarcely a limit to the possibilities of Bryan if the people will get together and work in harmony for the common good.

MR. YOAKUM MISQUOTED.

A few days ago The Eagle reprinted from the Temple Telegram some remarks attributed to Mr. B. F. Yoakum, which, it seems, he never made. The apology of the Telegram follows:

"The Telegram made a mistake recently in an editorial, wherein there were attributed to Mr. Yoakum sentiments which did not come from him. They were published in the same column, in the paper from which taken, and the change of speakers from Mr. Yoakum to another was not noted. Mr. Yoakum is liberal, anyway, even if he did not say that the railroads were largely to blame for adverse legislation."

If the cotton mills undertake to force the price of cotton down by closing, they may find that a game two can play at. If the farmers are wise they will hold for 15 cents and take no less. The world just has to have the cotton and will pay the price if the farmers will hold for it.

In quantity of population some other cities rank above Bryan, but in quality Bryan stands at the head of the column, or would if the census took quality into consideration.

The home business man in any line is justly entitled to the business of the home people. Mail order houses help build no cities but their own.

Cotton picking time is a trying season for the housekeeper. It is almost impossible to hire a housekeeper, a cook or a nurse.

FRATERNAL AND BENEVOLENT ORDERS IN BRYAN

Various Lodges Have Large Increase in Membership and All Are in Flourishing Condition.

Bryan has many organizations and lodges and all of them show a great increase in their membership recently. The principles and purposes of these lodges are set forth in such a way to the members that many have joined and are receiving the benefits of the insurance features as well as the splendid spirit of brotherhood that is manifested in all of these lodges. The Eagle gives a short sketch of the different organizations and some of their statistics and history.

The Masonic lodge is perhaps the oldest lodge in Bryan. The principles of this lodge have stood the test of time from the reign of King Solomon until the present day, and the vows and pledges mean just as much to the men that constitute the ranks today as they did when the order was founded. In this city the Masons have a Blue Lodge, the Royal Arch Masons and the Knights Templar, the latter being the Ivanhoe commandery. The total membership in the three is 165. The new temple being erected by this order is nearing completion.

Among the fraternal insurance lodges, the Ancient Order of United Workmen is perhaps the oldest here. The insurance feature is the specialty and the fraternal feature is also carried. The total membership of this order in Bryan is 115. They have paid over $130,000 in Bryan in payment of members' policies.

In the increase of membership the Woodmen of the World are perhaps first. The increase has been remarkable. The order was organized in Bryan about seventeen years ago and carries the fraternal insurance feature. The membership is 209.

The Macabees are twenty years old in Bryan, and carry the fraternal insurance feature also. The order is a thriving one and has a large membership totaling 106.

The Knights of Pythias, another old lodge, is a splendid order. Their specialty is fraternity, but they also carry an insurance feature. Of the 98 members here, about 40 carry insurance.

The Knights of Honor organized in Bryan in 1880. They have the fraternal insurance feature and have 11 members.

The Fraternal Union has 22 members here, and is another order that has fraternal insurance. The lodge is about ten years old.

The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, Lodge No. 859, of this city is about ten years old. The Elks are strictly a fraternal order, carrying no insurance but assurance, which is so important to brotherhood. There are many social features to this organization. There 127 Elks in Bryan.

Organized and founded in Bryan for social purposes is the Owl Club. The club is composed of young men of Bryan and is strictly a social organization. They have about forty members.

Outside of these organizations there are the Friends in Need, the Ladies' Woodmen Circle, which is an auxiliary to the Woodmen-of-the-World, and other similar lodges that are well sustained.

Bryan is a lodge town and the organizations are a lasting benefit. The brotherhood that exists between the members of these orders is a strong feature and where such harmony exists only good can result. The Eagle says: "Long live the fraternal orders."

A. & M. GRADUATE GETS GOOD POSITION.

Textile Engineers in Demand in Many Places.

College Station, Texas, Sept. 22.—Information has been received at the A. & M. College of Texas that F. E. Lichte is to have an important position with the new McKinney cotton mills.

Mr. Lichte graduated from the textile engineering department of the A. & M. College of Texas in 1906. After graduating here he went to North Carolina, where he has been connected with cotton mills since that time. He now returns to his home state, the state in which he was educated for cotton mill work, to take a position with the new cotton mill. He will have charge of the warping, weaving and finishing. It is work of high responsibility. The McKinney cotton mill is the most up-to-date mill in Texas—that it is the latest improved mill, and it is the first in the state to make fancy cotton goods.

There were three graduates of the textile department of the college in the year that Mr. Lichte finished. The others were F. G. Elliott, who is with a cotton firm in Waco, and W. T. Walker, who has been with the Roanoke Rapids cotton mill at Roanoke, N. C., ever since he finished here.

It has been learned at the college that C. P. Brannin, who graduated in textile engineering in 1909, will probably go to Lowell, Mass., for practical work in cotton mills.

Wichita Falls, Texas, Sept. 22.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Jerome F. Kilgore, cashier in the local freight office of the Fort Worth & Denver railroad here, who has been missing since last Wednesday.

Auditors have completed checking the accounts and it is said they are more than $1000 short. Kilgore left his home at 2 o'clock in the morning, telling his wife he was going to Fort Worth on a business trip. That was the last heard from him. The warrant was issued at the instance of the bond company.
